Hongkong, July 23rd, 1898. Tue appointment of a merchant as Vice-Consul for the United States at Canton has caused considerable discontent amongst foreign firms doing business with the United States. A protest has been signed, not only by German firms, but also by six British firms, and we hear it was with the latter that the protest originated. There seems good reason for objecting to the appointment, for the invoices of all the firms exporting to the United States are necessarily open to the Vice-Consul, and if the latter is himself a merchant engaged in the same business it gives him an advantage over his competitors. There is, we understand, no personal feeling the driver to be summoned. matter, the gentleman appointed being held in general respect, nor does international rivalry enter into the question | at all. The protesters simply object to having the details of their business exposed to the inspection of one of their competitors. Consul Budlon and the Washington Government will doubtless recognise the objection as reasonable. There is another ground upon which objection might be taken to the appointment of Mr. WILLIAMS, though it is not -one with which the foreign community of Canton is in any way immediately concerned. We refer to the undesirability on general grounds of appointing merchants to Consular office in China. The Chinese Government has a well-tounded objection to such appointments, and in some of the later treaties has expressly provided against them. In the Por- and the programme was greatly cartailed, the the qualifying documents of each member, and tuguese treaty it is provided that "The Con-"suls must be officials of the Portuguese "Government and not merchants," and in the Peruvian treaty there is the following provision :- "It is further agreed that the "appointment of the said Consular Officers "shall not be made in merchants residing appointing a committee to report on the harbour "in the locality." The Powers generally, tinually hearing this same old tune. Comalthough not expressly bound by treaty in mittee after committee is appointed and report the matter, have for many years past respected China's feelings in this respect, and Engineer Loureiro about fifteen years ago this for the re-establishment of internal order have also consulted their own interests, by | child's play has been going on. Here in Macao | when disturbed by disorderly members. appointing only official Consuls. In the earlier days of foreign intercourse merchant Cousuls were appointed by several Powers, but the system was aban- thought of again. doned, and it would be inadvisable for the United States to reintroduce it now. The Chinese objection to merchant Consuls may rest primarily on pride—the disinclination of the native officials to hold consmunication with a foreigner engaged in trade-but beyond that there is the knowledge that Chinese traders would in various ways attempt to " work the oracle" if they had the opportunity of doing mercantile business with Consuls or Consular officers. The Chinese clients of the merchant Consul would endeavour to make use of him for their own ends in ways analogous to those

This I consider to be the most difficult job of the whole work, as the gorge in which it is to be built is rock bound, and the dam will have to stand the full force of floods sweeping over it. Owing to the rapid fall in the river these floods come down with very great force, often sweeping logs, trees and rook before them. These will have to go right over the top of the dam. The cable track between the power station and the mines has the timber felled on it for about half the distance. This is rather a big job as on some of the stoop hill-sides a very great width has to be cleared owing to the country over which the cable is to be carried being t rugged and precipitous. The greatest trouble we shall have will be fixing the posts on the side of these precipitous ranges. WM. BIBBY, Mine Manager.

BRITISH ANNEXATION IN THE PACIFIC. HOISTING THE BRITISH FLAG ON THE

SAN, ORUZ AND DUEF GROUPS. Sydney, 2nd July. Word was received lately that the warship sealed orders," and one construction of the report was that she was bent upon a flag-hoisting expedition in some remote part of the Pacific. Inquiries were made at the Admiralty here, but without eliciting anything more than that "nothing was pending." Yestorday news reached here of the Mohawk's "special mission." It seems that some groups of islands still exist upon which neither the British nor any other flag has yet been hoisted and in view of recent developments the Home Government has been advised that it would be as well to formally take possession of these places. It devolved upon the Mohawk to carry out the duty, and that she has done it efficiently is conveyed in the brief message to hand, which rans:- We have hoisted the flag on the Santa Cruz and Duff islands." The Santa Cruz group has seven large islands,

Vanikoro, Santa Cruz, Guerta, Paval, Tapona, Lord Howe, and Volcano, besides several smaller ones to the north and north-east of Volcano BOALOS, FOR FLOORING, CEILING, WALLIANG. Island. The Duff, or Wilson, group consists &c. TEAR SHINGLES FOR ROOFING. of 11 islands. Santa Cruz, the principal island of the group taking that name, is about 15 or 16 miles long. The other places-Yanikoro, Tapona, Nitendi, and Matema-are of less importance. The principal of the Duff Islands is but six miles in circumference .- Morning
